

35

Why are Love, Joy, and Peace, of God? Because they allow energy to flow—God’s energy. Hate, sadness, and strife are not of God because they stop the flow of God’s energy. The clear vessel is God’s vessel because it allows God’s blessings to flow through it unobstructed. Only then are you the Light of the world. The Father is very pleased with those vessels who place no limits on the flow of His blessings. If you keep the vessel clean all the time, then you commune with God all the time.

Your greatest joy is when you consciously rest in the bosom of the Father and watch His blessings flow through you to bring your brothers into balance and harmony. You have been given a great responsibility. It is your love for God that makes you capable of releasing all attachments. This love is a gift. You asked for it, and it has been granted.

Blessings flow through you to your brothers. Do not be discouraged when they are not readily accepted. For some brothers pain is necessary to motivate them to ask for help and be ready to accept it. When you extend Love to your brothers and stand ready as a clean vessel, you have done your part well. Even when you must observe the pain and suffering, do not believe the image you see. Always speak to your brother’s soul, “But what I see is a brilliant light and a pure spirit that inspires me to give thanks to our Blessed Father for you.” And when you touch his soul with your love and admiration, he will be enveloped in a Love that brings him healing, balance, peace. It is your care, your concern, and your appreciation of your brother that makes the offering of My gift—Myself—possible.

Remember, don't let your compassion make you too anxious to relieve the suffering of your brothers. Your task is to be the clean vessel placed at My disposal to bless your brothers. I release the blessings at a time and in a manner that is most beneficial. You just stand and gaze upon the beauty of My child as your heart rejoices. There is no pain, no difficulty, or problem that will not melt in My Presence, and your brothers will know from where their help has come. Stand faithfully by them in their hour of trial when doubts assail them. They will only see Me as I am manifest in you. As you, I bring them hope, assurance, and the expression of abiding Love.

If you ever wonder whether you are hearing Me clearly, then apply the test of pure, boundless Love to the perceived message. If you feel My Love and rest in My Peace, you need not doubt. You know My Vibration, My Inspiration, My Presence. You know when you are not inspired by Me. Dwell in Love, and you will not be touched by those influences that are not of Me. You cannot stray, because you know Me and because your intent is to serve Me in assisting your brothers. You really don't have another desire or intention. Enjoy resting in My Heart where you were created with great Love and care. You can remain in My Heart as you walk the earth and never feel exiled. This is the only way you can truly serve. As you allow Me to be who you are, you look upon your brothers as beautiful and holy children of the Most High. This is the only way you can be a vessel that inspires them to abandon their ungodly ideas and opinions of themselves. They will not believe it when you tell them they are whole and holy unless this is truly what you behold. It is the joy in your heart upon seeing their purity and divinity that will cause them to believe you. They cannot for long resist responding to your sincere admiration, your appreciation, your adoration of that which is born of My Own Heart. They will soon rush into your arms, into your heart, with a gladness they had forgotten was possible. Dear child, your role, your task, is so easy! You will surely not neglect to offer unconditional admiration and appreciation to each and every brother. They will look confidently to you for the Love that disentangles them from their bad dreams, and I rely upon you to give It. I will send them to you, and you to them—so that they may come to Me, and I to them.

Fixing the problems that those in the world perceive themselves as having is not your job. It would not awaken your brothers anyway. When they awaken, the problems will melt. Your brother desires acknowledgment of his reality—and also your unconditional Love. When you give this, it is the beginning of his salvation, for once he experiences your eternal Love, he will thereafter seek to repeat the experience over and over until it becomes never-ending. He will feel lost and will not know where to turn until you tap gently on the door to his heart and whisper, “Open, beloved, that I may know the joy of your glorious embrace and taste the sweetness of your love.” Your brother waits for you. Do not delay.

Deliver all concerns unto Me. When you surrender yourself completely to Me, you will see that I arrange everything, with your experience of Love as the highest priority. What may appear to be a narrow escape from harm is not narrow or risky for Me at all. You must trust Me totally. You do know that I love you, that I care for you. You must lay worries aside, or they will block you from experiencing My embrace, from seeing My Light all around you. Remember that I send you into the byways at times to deliver My Love and the message of Holiness to those whose hearts cry out in loneliness because their blindness robs them of their joy. You will never be able to resist a cry for Love. I know this, and I know you can be depended on. I am pleased that you have joined Me in the harvest!

At your request I bring, through you, Love where it will be accepted; I bring Joy to those who have forgotten they walk through a world of joy; I bring My Peace to those who don't remember that there is no reason to be troubled; and I bring Light to those who are disheartened and confused. You bring My Presence to those who seek and hope, and also to those who despair of finding Me and finding reason to endure the trials of earth. You are a Light bearer. You bring the most precious gift there is. Be ever aware of the importance of your task and the responsibility it brings with it. There is no time or place for illusions of the ego. You have only one goal, one purpose, one reason for existing. Distractions were toys that are now placed aside. With salvation comes responsibility and a single focus. You enter into My embrace and go forth to offer it to the world. My dear son, how I love you! You will find in your heart that same love for each brother. My creation is perfect!

When all cares and plans are set aside and you enter a state of stillness, there in your heart, at your altar, you find My gentleness, My Love, the sweetness of My embrace. This is your foundation, your nourishment, your sense of completion. Here are the roots of the serenity that carries you and sustains you throughout the day, and even the night. This is your true home, and you need never leave it. You can remain at home—in My heart—any place on earth or in heaven. As you do this you draw the lost, the fearful, the homeless to Me. They will seek out your presence because there they find Me more easily. They will feel comforted and loved as they come to you. Be ever so gentle as you touch them. They will appreciate your touch, for it is My touch, and it heals and restores, sustains and uplifts. They will notice that the turmoil in their hearts and minds becomes calm, and they will wonder at it and call it magical.

Once you have given your heart to God—have made a total commitment—then your dedication is such that you no longer notice inconveniences and uninspiring situations. Your heart is with God and His Will. You do not feel separated from God; therefore, you are not distracted by the noise and strife caused by those who are unaware of God's Light and Love. You have Peace while others are in turmoil. You do not have to have quiet and you do not have to be alone in order to commune with Me. You have realized that you no longer need to seek. Now you are free and at peace, and I am no longer crowded out by concerns. Now we can enjoy the sweetness of friendship and Love.

My Light hangs heavy over you and is about to spill over, drenching all areas of your life. You will notice how thin your shell is and how the Light with which it is filled seems to almost obliterate it. This is the oneness with all that is. As the Light washes over you and merges with the Light within, you will notice that the ego has no attraction to you at all. The joy of oneness brings an indescribable Peace and an ever so gentle Love that delights in embracing the Light that is seen in others. You will never tire of it. You were created for this and now are claiming your birthright. What a lovely day this is, the day of realization of Holiness!

When the vessel is pure and clean, the walls of it become so thin there is only a suggestion of identification as a separate being. You are delivered from slavery to the fleshpots of appetites and the song and dance that give the ego its existence, for they no longer satisfy or delight [see Ex 16:3]. Even though you live in the midst of these once strong distractions, now the Silence is so strong that you no longer notice them. In Silence you have My Peace and drink of My Love. The Silence and Peace in which you dwell draw as a magnet unto you those who thirst for deliverance. You realize that the death of the ego is not annihilation but rather the gift of Life—Eternal Life and realization of your oneness with Me and all creation.

I bring them to you in spirit, and also in body at times. As you, I heal their broken hearts, lift their sorrows and grief, and help them allow their bodies to align with the harmony and wholeness of Spirit. I bring strangers in contact with you and arrange for you to hear of suffering around the world in order that I, as you, intentionally may pause to whisper, “Glorious child of Eternity, your breathtaking beauty brings tears of joy to my eyes. I ask for your holy embrace so that I may experience the ecstasy of Divine communion. Look upward, dear brother, and your interpretation of what is will melt and be replaced by knowledge of Truth.” Because you choose Love and appreciation, two souls merge in an embrace so pure, so holy, that no cloud can abide its presence. Remember, when you dwell in Love, you abide in Me [see I John 4:16]. In the Presence of Light no darkness can remain. My son has but one will—to do the Will of his Father.

I know those who have chosen to go forth, allowing Me to be in total control as I, through them, lift My stumbling and crying children. I am not deceived in My helpers. I have tried them and proved them, and I know their love for Me surpasses all else. The work at hand demands those whose eyes cannot stray from Me and for whom My promptings are irresistible urges. Is it not marvelous how I lead you into the most unlikely nooks and crannies to deliver the gift of a smile, a loving comment, yea, even a gentle touch, that delivers a message more believable than words? No day given to Me is lived in vain. A feeling of joy welling up in your heart affects the world, even when you are alone. I send you into the world with armfuls of gifts. Think not lightly of any one. Deliver each one with care, for it is perfect. Remember this!

When you function from a base of Silence, you can commune with Me in that Silence in a second; and yet you continue to function in the world, but your functioning there bears My mark. From the Silence My Peace radiates forth from you to envelop those you encounter or hold in your heart. It brings erratic and scattered energies into a focused flow with a Divine purpose. As you think of Me, your gaze will bathe the world in Love, a Love that melts fear. The windows of Heaven are open, and My Spirit is poured out on all who will receive. By extending gentle Love you encourage your brothers to lower the walls of defense that are blocking the flow of Love.

Your heart goes out to your brothers who are suffering, and in deep love you desire to help. Remember that those who have been lulled to sleep do not seek Me and call for help. Pain is the blessing that precipitates awakening. In pain they cry for help. If the pain stops, they may go back to sleep. Because of the stark contrast between pain and Love, they notice it when you offer Love. They begin to remember—when you speak to the soul of Beauty, Love, pure Light, and My Peace. To truly be of help you must offer something that helps them remember Eternity. That you can only do when you recognize their divinity and proclaim only that. When they argue with you about their reality, you must say, “Come, my glorious brother, and let me tell you of the beauty I have beheld in your heart. The mask you have presented to me has become invisible. I hardly notice it. What I see is a being of Light so brilliant I can’t take my eyes off it. I come to you for a glimpse of my Father. I am truly blessed to see Him revealed in you. Do you not see how happy I am to be with you?” And as you refuse to speak of anything else, he will begin to forget his pain and draw near to embrace you. He will thank you that you refused to offer anything except recognition and acknowledgment of his holiness. This is your job—to woo your brothers away from their illusions of unworthiness. But you must offer more than argument. You must offer an experience of Love—communion. Go forth in My Name!

It is beneficial that you have reached the point where you have no strong desires based in the ego. It is important that you have said, “Tell me what is in perfect alignment with our Father’s Will.” You already know that the heart is your home base and your joy is in seeking to embrace, to gently touch, the hearts of your brothers. I walk back and forth before your eyes every day. When your fascination is no longer with the personality, but what is beyond the personality, and you whisper, “I adore you; your purity and beauty cause joy to well up within my heart,” you are doing the Father’s Will. Be not anxious about the doing. Follow My promptings, be patient, and delight in appreciation of each encounter.

Only in the awareness and experience of Oneness do unrest, distractions, and conflicts fall away. The many schemes for fulfillment, expression, and creativity are mere mirages that only distract if pursued. Peace is My gift to you. If you do not have My Peace, you have let your gaze stray.

53

I pass out My bountiful blessings of Eternal Abundance and all that is appropriate and needed. Love, Mercy, Appreciation, Joy, and Peace are not to be judged or compared with blessings as the world perceives them. Look for Me in the humblest of places and situations. Where you see Me there is no mediocrity. Do not judge what I provide, for in rejecting that which may seem to be of little value, you must also reject Me in the gift. I cannot be separated from My gift. Everywhere you look you see My hand of abundance extended.

Did I not tell you that if you come to Me and give Me your heart, your mind, your soul—your life—that I will give you Peace? I take responsibility for your needs. That means you don’t have to figure out how your needs will be met but need only listen to My promptings. If you need to do something, I will tell you. When you release the worry and concern, you can receive the Peace. In the Peace you can hear My promptings. In the Peace Joy wells up. Only from Peace and defenselessness can Love flow. Peace opens the doorway for Spirit to flow, to pass through. Anything that disturbs the Peace stops the flow. Without Peace I cannot enter your heart. I make My abode where Peace reigns. From the heart where I abide flows a never-ending river of Love and Joy that blesses all the world, yea, even the stars. This is the pearl of great price for which a person would give up everything he has [see Matt 13:45-46].

When you see God expressing Himself everywhere and you see His great Movement toward awareness of Light in every form and being, you can condemn nothing. Lack of Love is ignorance, but it is ignorance moving ever toward knowledge of Holiness, even if it seems to you to be moving slowly. The caterpillar and cocoon are necessary in the development of the butterfly. Groping in darkness is necessary to the choice of Love, Light, and the Father's Joy. My dear child, at every crossroads, every fork in the road, choose Me, choose Love, choose to see Light where darkness seems to be. Be gentle. Extend Love, total appreciation, to those in pain, to those who cry out for help, for love, in whatever way they can. Appreciate the fact that they call! For they can be reached. Those who sleep or will not call cannot yet be reached. I depend on you to assist in helping those who cannot yet hear Me. Your presence in the world is far from being irrelevant. You represent Me. I have told you not to think lightly of or judge in any way My gifts to you. Now I tell you not to think lightly of yourself. I have called you to a task that is very important to Me. I did not think or judge you unworthy. If you judge yourself, you judge Me! Your task is easy. All you need to do is always look to Me. Always seek Me everywhere in everything and every situation. If you do this, you will never fail, never!

The empty vessel has no need for fulfillment. How could it need entertainment? Your only need is communion. You only seek books that inspire you to commune or remind you of the communion experience. Everything else bores you, and you quickly become impatient with it. Remember, My dear child, the boredom is My reminder to you to commune. If you commune, you do not see or hear that which bores you. It is, in fact, the blessing that reminds you to seek to see Holiness and to open your heart so that Love may flow forth. The holy embrace of your brothers is your fulfillment, your sustenance, your joy. In this experience a gentleness that is truly divine shines forth from your countenance, for it is the result, the child, of appreciation, honor, respect, and gratitude that you have brought to the altar of a brother's heart. Your admiration of that Light I so lovingly placed in his heart is the key to the door of that heart, and it will surely unlock the bolted door if you persist. That is My promise to you. Remember, dear child, remember to look with eyes of Spirit, and you will truly see what is Real. You will know Truth, and it will set you free from all your sorrows, fears, and misinterpretations. You will walk in the Light of God and know no darkness. My Light will shine forth from you as a star of hope and deliverance. I am gathering My children unto Myself. Allow me full sweep; remain a clean—an empty—vessel.

57

The vessel can only be pure and clean when nothing obstructs the flow of Divine Spirit through it. You will never get rid of thoughts, ideas, plans, and interpretations by disciplining your mind not to dwell on these things. When you choose minute by minute to see God in all things, beings, and circumstances, the clutter in your mind will disappear because it has been replaced by your choice to see only holiness and perfection. Remember the Eastern analogy of emptying and cleaning the inkwell, not by pouring out the ink, but rather by pouring water into it until it overflows and the ink gets thinner and thinner until only water remains. This is the only way the vessel can be cleansed and purified. It takes trust to choose to see holiness where you now see imperfection. My dear child, choosing is all that is required of you. I will do the rest. Now, think about it: Is it really difficult to choose to see Holiness rather than corruption and sickness? I wait patiently, but with great anticipation. Each time you make the choice it will make you feel safer about making it again the next time, until one day you make the choice once again, but for all time. Then you dwell in heaven, but you have one foot on earth, for you have joined Me in the harvest, an empty vessel, totally at My disposal.

Consider each day and the happenings in it to be a blessing from our Blessed Father. Each day is a building block in His plan. You do not see the magnificence of it. Every encounter is an opportunity. A trail of connections follows you. I lead you here and there and perform My work while you remain unaware of My doings. The empty vessel does not ask why. It simply says, “I am always available to be the conduit of the outpourings of Your Spirit.” Go forth ever empty, available, and content in whatever state you find yourself, and you will always rest in My Love!

I love you! You know that now, and it brings Me joy. I am very happy that you have come to realize you do not love anything else more than you love Me. You understand that the most important reason you were brought on this long trip was the love and appreciation you offered the troubled couple today, and this pleases Me. I am very happy that you consider it worth the long trip and the inconveniences you encountered so that you could offer these two total appreciation, as well as your acceptance of their own need for their experiences in order to bring them closer to extending Holy Love themselves. My vessels go with joy in their hearts without questioning—wherever I lead them. You do realize that you want nothing more than that My will be done. Those through whom I pour out My blessings are truly blessed, for by being empty, they can receive full measure from Me.

It is the intent of your heart that allows the Father’s Light and Blessings to flow through you to your brothers. You have no idea what blessings are received when you allow yourself to be the vessel through which they flow. Your love, yea, Love, gladdens the hearts of many and lifts away the dark clouds they have attracted to themselves. All you have to do is pause a moment and look for Me in them. Such joy you feel! A holy embrace ensues. It is your gentle, insistent love that melts the walls of their resistance. You are called to Love, My child! Love is your calling.

Have I not proved Myself as a trustworthy protector today? Now you must lay aside all fears and doubts of any kind at any time. There is Light and Love in every situation. When you trust this totally, you will always look for it and surely find yourself offering unconditional love and appreciation wherever you are, and you won't need to understand why things must be the way they are. You will just know without a doubt that all is perfect.

Rest in Peace and wait for My inspiration. Without My prompting and My gifts at the right time, an attempt at making plans will only confuse and frustrate you. Leave all things to Me and wait. In the meantime reap the blessings of resting in Peace. I am with you always. Such sweet communion can be had in the place of making useless plans!

Accept that I am in you, and you are in Me [see John 15:4]. Rise up from thoughts of inadequacy and unworthiness and go forth as the Light of God. Go forth as the Son of God that you are and accept your role as bearer of a Light that wells up from within you. Go forth as Myself healing those who cry for help, for relief from pain, for Love. This is your role, and only when you accept it will you know Joy, worthiness, completion, and Peace—My Peace, that is steeped in Joy. As long as you feel the need to be healed yourself, you will be deprived of your Joy. You are blessed, you are ordained, you are ready to go forth as My helper, because you know that to help means to acknowledge Holiness in all there is. To delay is to deprive yourself and your brothers. I send you forth this day!

In order to accept the role of a Son of God extending Love to a suffering and confused world, you accepted the staging and the cast. You must have the staging and cast in order to play your part. Don't be concerned about the effects of your role, just play it well! Don't believe the costumes and masks, but be assured that they only cover holiness, ever so thinly. This is your joy, your salvation and security. Your intention is of much greater value and effect than it seems. If you look for results you will often be deceived and lose heart. Just offer Love continuously, even though it may seem to be in vain. Your brothers depend on you. So do I.

65

I already send them to you, using all sorts of things as excuses to bring seeming strangers together. They come to bless you and to be blessed through you. You will at times be annoyed at My methods. Give thanks always for every opportunity to embrace the spirit of another. It is your daily bread.

66

When the vessel is clean and empty, your presence is healing—because your presence is My Presence. Keep the vessel always empty so that your presence on earth is the conduit through which endless and unlimited blessings from Me may flow. It is not for naught that you have been brought to the point where nothing of earth intrigues you anymore. This is good; and it is a great blessing to you because blessings cannot flow through you without blessing you. The joy of every brother is your joy. The Love you offer is the Love you receive. Give thanks that you have been so well prepared to be, to function as, My son.

67

All is well when you go with the flow, the movement of God's energy. It leads you moment by moment, always with blessings of Love, Joy, and Peace in mind. Sometimes the flow leads you in unexpected directions, but resisting it for the sake of preplanned movements will only deprive you of blessings flowing to you and through you. Blessings can be received and extended everywhere and at all times, but the act of resisting closes the door and clogs the vessel. I go with you everywhere at all times. Allow yourself to be aware of this, and you will know Me in your heart. It will make you glow, for you will be radiant.

The dedicated vessel turns its focus toward Me and, by so directing full attention to Me, aligns itself so that My Spirit, My Energy, My Love, can flow directly, unhindered, and undiluted toward that part of My creation that is ready to receive My refreshing, balancing Touch—a kiss of Joy that wipes away despair and pain, insecurity and hopelessness, feelings of being unloved and inadequate. Do not underestimate the value of such vessels. I know how to make of them maximum channels of blessings. When they are pure and empty there is only Me there. I am manifest in My creation, a fountain of Love and Joy for all who thirst for Peace and seek their home. They will find through My vessel that they are already at home—even on earth—for heaven is brought to earth and all things are made blessed by the experience of My Presence. My Joy is full when My vessels are as clear as crystal, for My Light can now shine away the darkness that has caused so much suffering. I have waited long, and My Patience is rewarded when I am allowed to enter and claim My children. How blessed you are at this time, children of earth! Day is dawning. The night is past. Soon you will dance with joy.

There is a stream of Light flowing from Me to your heart and mind. If you gaze into the Light and allow it to be your heart's greatest desire, you will see your world transformed.

As you become more and more aware of the stream of Light and Its constant Presence, you will by choice dwell in the Light as you tend to your earthly duties. You will be in the world, but not of it. Did you notice today how I brought two people who don't speak to each other to your home at the same time? It was not without effect that you looked at the Light in each and then nudged the two lights together. I will bring more and more of My children to you so that I may pour out blessings upon them through My willing vessel, and you, My child, will be so enamored of Me that you forget you wanted to leave earth. Earth is not Godforsaken, dear one, it is God blessed, and you are a part of the blessings. It is My desire that you be blessed by being here. I lovingly prepared this for you as well as for the others. You will truly one day enter into My Heart and melt into oneness with Me, but not out of a desire to get away from what has been experienced as a painful and hopeless place. You will enter My Heart solely because of your love for Me.

I prepare a table for My children, a bounteous banquet, so that you may each delight, as I do, in the presence of the others. You will treasure the fellowship with the brethren, for you will find great comfort in each other. There will be great rejoicing each time you go out and return from the byways of earth with a brother in pain whom you have persuaded to come with you so that he may know Love and Joy. My heart is gladdened as I see the release of their pain and the acceptance of My Joy in them. They will all eventually come because your love for them will be irresistible. Your genuine appreciation of them and acknowledgment of their beauty and holiness will melt their defenses and arguments. Bring the lost and wandering ones to Me. There is room for all at the feast. You are a gatherer by nature. That is why you are participating in the harvest. Your technique is to convince each one that he has the beauty of a rare and priceless gem.

72

Each time you look past the personality and body and greet My pure and Holy Spirit within another, you add to the balancing and harmonizing energy of that person; and by touching the essence of his being in love and appreciation, you bring to his awareness the true being within that he may have forgotten long ago. He then begins to remember this glorious feeling of Divine Spirit. He must remember it in order to desire to know it again. After you have touched and embraced him in this way, he will begin to seek your presence in order to experience again your uplifting love, My healing Love that flows through you. Can you think of a more rewarding task to have? It is a great privilege, for it brings you the Peace, the Love, and the Joy that you offer. It cannot flow through you without blessing you with unspeakable Joy. Now you appreciate your brothers even more because they are the means of your own happiness. It is I who embrace you from each heart to which you offer your appreciation!

There will be times when you approach the heart's door of a brother, and it is as if you have come to an old, abandoned chapel that is dark and dusty. It is your great privilege to clean the cobwebs and to light the candles on the unvisited altar. As you come again and again and lovingly care for this honored sanctum, it acquires a sense of Presence. One day when you come, the owner welcomes you with an enthralling embrace that leaves your countenance transformed and glowing, and you will be thankful that you had a part in the restoration of the altar. At other times when you approach the threshold of a brother's heart, you will find the door bolted. It will be your honor to stand at the door whispering declarations of love much as a lover serenades his beloved. It will be your totally non-threatening, gentle insistence and undying love that, one glorious day, convinces the hesitant soul to release all fear and rush into your arms in ecstatic joy. You are a lover from the core of your being. This is a great asset in working at the soul level. I placed this gift in your heart because you asked to help in the most effective way possible. Use it often. You always receive what you give.

When you look at a brother and acknowledge only glorious perfection, then your next task is to speak to the soul of those things you behold until it listens and accepts what you are telling it. When these two things are accomplished, there is change. Limiting ideas of self are released, dark clouds of doubt and fear dissolve, and the influence of these things on the physical body can be released and undone. You see a brilliant star rising and giving expression to joy and love. When you think of that person, you will notice the sparkling light and feel the burst of youthful delight in life. You see Me, manifest for you to look upon in wonder.

You see your prayers answered and are sometimes amazed at the manner in which the answer comes. You do not see how perfect My timing is. You like it when the answer comes immediately, but when it takes a while, you think I'm taking a nap or ignoring you. You must trust that I bring about the best, keeping the long-term goal of the harvest in mind. Set your mind at ease, rest in Peace, and give Me total trust. Be not concerned. I lead you; in fact, I carry you forward in My arms.

There is good reason for and definite effect in pausing from time to time and offering up Love to all mankind, as well as to Me. Your brothers are affected, touched, by your offering, and you, dear child, have the experience of a short interval of oneness with Me and My children. You experience being in heaven on earth. Your relationship with Me is constant. It is not limited to a meditation period or a dedicated place. The empty vessel realizes this because his attention has not been distracted. When you make room for Me, you realize that I am there. My Presence is always Love. No other love satisfies as My Love does. In Me you are content.

Those I send to you will know that I bless them because they will feel the honor you give them and know it is genuine. When the world pays tribute to them or professes love, it has a hollow ring to it, but your willingness to look for the Truth, and acknowledge and accept only that, will literally touch and energize the soul. They are hungry and thirsty for Love. If you focus only on Holiness, you will be an artesian well of spiritual blessings that heal all manner of imbalances, a fountain of Pure Love—My son fulfilling his true function. Be ever vigilant of your mind and desires. Choose to see only holiness, and your heart will be My abode.
