A TALK WITH GOD

God's message:

You come before Me because you recognize Me and love Me, and you are able to come only as an empty vessel because if the vessel is not empty, it is not able to come before this Presence. You come to recognize how you were created out of My own Heart and how you may thus go back into creation and be another one of those who reflects My Holy Light into it. You must remain empty so that the Light can reflect without being darkened in any way. This is the Light that brings the comfort and hope you so desire that your brothers have access to. You must allow Me to go forth as you, not you deciding what needs to be done. Allow this and trust that I bring to each one that which is in harmony with My Being and also with what that brother can accept at this time, and trust that nothing that is not in harmony with My Divine Will, My Holy Will—which is always pure—will be brought to him. Only so can you come before your brothers. Only so are you worthy to come before them without in some way bringing something that might be harmful to them. You are sent forth as a helper. You are sent forth to draw unto you those who can and will accept the comfort of My Presence—the comfort of being without fear—and also who can accept from Me that which will guide them forward on their own paths of development so that they too become, or allow themselves to be, that which they were created. And this is brought about by their allowing the dross to fall away into nothingness as they also stand before other brothers, radiating that Light, extending It, embracing all who come near, so that they feel that Love and release those things that have kept them from Me and to which they cling as a security, which is not a security at all but which they are many times reluctant to release. You go forth realizing there is no competition and there is no one who could harm you. You are without fear. You go in joy because you bring My Light, you bring My Joy, and of course with that comes hope.

It is My great joy that you have allowed those things to be removed, to fall away, that have obstructed your view of Me and your awareness of your relationship with Me. It is My great joy! And it is with My joy that I send you forth now. Go forth bringing My Heart and My Love, along with the Light that brightens every corner and the purity that allows every man, every being, all brothers, their own freedom. As you look upon them and rejoice in their being, you see only Me there, and you know the Oneness. You feel totally secure, and there is nothing to fear. Every child of Mine is My beloved son, and I have great joy in each one. Now go forth content, knowing that in allowing My Will to be done you will have joy, if it is My Will, to be in the earth for many thousands of years, or if it is My Will, you will go elsewhere. You have no opinion, you have no other desire; for you know that resting in My Will you are always happy, you are filled with joy, and it is your great privilege to go forth extending this forever and ever, from everlasting to everlasting. You are My son, always. You know this. Now, be about My business, My dear child [see Luke 2:49].

The abundance of the Father is yours. All things come—all things, wherever you are—even before you know that you might have need of them. They are already prepared, and all you do is open the door of your mind and your heart and let them flow in. There is no need for concern. Everything you could possibly need I place there for you.

As you rest in My Will, in My Heart, and you look upon each brother as Myself come to bless you, then you have all sensitivities—you have awareness of all things that are needed to be shared with each one. You have no need to worry or be concerned about not bringing that to them. It flows through the vessel that does not hinder it or obstruct it. There is no need for concern.

Every single day opportunities are given to uplift others. When people say, “How is your day?” and you say, “I’m thrilled to be here,” they look at you, and at times they wonder. Sometimes you seem to see a glimmer in the eye that shows how it has touched their hearts. I take care of all things. You will notice as you encounter your brothers how the opportunities come for you to relate from heart to heart—to reach forth and touch that heart and make it sing. They will see the gleam in your eyes as My Light shines forth, and it will stimulate something within them. Set your purpose each day so that this will happen. You need not always be aware of these things, but there are times when you can’t help but see the glimmer in their eyes—see the Light reflecting back to you. And as you see the Light reflecting to you from your brothers, you know that I have touched them and that I have come to you as them—also come to bring joy to you as you see Me in them each day. It is My Will that you see Me there—that you come before My Presence that is in your brothers, my beloved sons. It is My Will that you receive blessings from Me in their hearts, for each heart is an altar, an altar where My Light is, and it never dies; it is always there. Sometimes you may need to go to that altar and clear away the cobwebs, but you always see the Light there; and when you see It, great joy comes upon you. I created you out of My own Heart; you are a part of Myself. I have great joy in you and in each one. Go forth in the knowledge of My Love for you and have such Love for everyone you see. And always remember, when a brother is showing forth to you some negative vibration, it is because he is calling for a recognition of what he really is. See that always as a call, an extending of his arms to you saying, "I need your recognition, I need your love, I need your embrace," and respond even as My Son, My Holy Son Jesus, did, whom you so much admire and would emulate. You can do that; He called you to do that; He taught you to do it. You can and you will, for you cannot resist. It is your joy to do so.

Your sister in this life is also Myself come to you—come to you to receive your embrace, as well as to embrace you. See the beauty of a life accepted in seeming limitation as a means of bringing Light to your heart and the hearts of others. See it not as something that needs to be changed—to be healed—but see the perfection of My plan in My creation and rejoice in it. Look for the perfection there, just beyond the form. Look for it, rejoice in it, embrace it, and give thanks each day for the opportunity of being in the Presence of Me as I come to you as your sister.

Accept also anything in your own life that may appear in the consciousness of earth as a limitation or as a distortion. See that as a means. You have already recognized that through some pain in the past you were drawn more strongly to Myself. And it made you realize that there is nothing greater than My Will and that you could release all other things that were false gods you held before Me [see Ex 20:3]. So, see all limitations as part of My Will. At times they help you to understand your brothers better, and at times they help your brothers to accept you, knowing that you have also walked the same paths they have. My helpers need to walk the same paths as those they come to bringing help, bringing My Presence, bringing My Love. You must know the paths they walk, and you must walk beside them, even as your Master, the Christ, walks beside you every day. Just as He is ever in your heart, so must you always be there for your brothers. At times, wherever you may be, you will feel them reaching out to you, and you pause a moment and respond. And this way you are always in their hearts, bringing Me, for it is I going to them as you. I am pleased that you wanted to come before Me this day in this way, and you can also do this every day as you sit quietly apart from the world. This time of coming before Me is as important as going out into the world. It also helps to keep you close to Me and keep you as the empty vessel. Come before Me, my beloved son. I always rejoice when you do that. I am so pleased that you want to come.

The vessel says:

I thank You, Blessed Father, that You planted Your Love in my heart and that You have always drawn me to Yourself and not allowed me to go so far astray that I would forget and not know where to turn back to. I love You for the Beauty and the Purity that You are. I am thankful that this is what God really is.
